

New Features for American Gelbvieh Association Members Released!

GREAT NEWS for Gelbvieh Seedstock Producers! Cow Sense Herd Management Software has recently completed a NEW interface with the American Gelbvieh Association (AGA)! This is a FREE update provided to Cow Sense NxGen customers.

These new capabilities built into the Partner Exchange Tool (PET) included in Cow Sense NxGen-PRO provide the capability to easily create files that can be submitted to AGA for Registrations. You can also relay raw performance data updates, retrieve EPDs, adjusted performance measures and ratios on records previously recorded. In addition, this PET interface provides you the capability to add any of your new animal records from the AGA Online Registry that do not exist in your Cow Sense herd file.

If you are an existing Cow Sense customer, from the Top Menu choose Check for Update and allow the Auto Update to install these new features. The link below to the NxGen Guide for the AGA Interface provides important instructions to enable these new capabilities for your herd file:

Once installed, you can create a herd file of your own then Update as described in the previous paragraphs. Enable the AGA PET interface and turn on the desired fields you wish to utilize. Add data to your herd from the AGA Registry to see all that it has to offer your operation.

We are extremely excited about this new NxGen design as it is even more user-friendly, totally customizable, yet the most robust product on the market. You can review the Video Tutorials, The Quick Start Guide, the Product Detailers at the website or from the Cow Sense Help Menu of the Trial.

You will be amazed at the powerful new tools available in this NEW Version! This is a total new design based on our over 25 years in this business and rebuilt from the ground up!
